Rick and Hans,

Has a decision been made whether there will be a 'market surveillance plan' initiated (beyond the 1-800 line for product complaints) when the 1st FilterSelect product will be launched without a reduced-exposure claim? If not, when will such a decision been made? If yes, what does the plan encompass?

I am asking in order to help prepare the launch Q&A (a Corporate Affairs responsibility) that is likely to contain such questions (and answers) to address some of the statements we have made in public and in scientific venues.

Regards,
Roger
